A WELCOME FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Welcome back to MPAC! We are so happy to see you here again. I hope that you and your family are well and healthy.

What makes our performing arts center so special is that it brings us together as a community to share the collective excitement of live theatre. We are thrilled to be able to be that community gathering place again.

The COVID pandemic has truly tested the resolve of our theatre. Despite countless obstacles, we forged ahead and developed new and creative ways to serve our audiences, from drive-in concerts to virtual programming to online Performing Arts School classes to limited-capacity shows, and now, the return of full capacity events.

MPAC has practiced stringent health guidelines since first reopening in October 2020 and we will continue to do everything within our ability to make our venue safe for our patrons, performers, volunteers and staff. We appreciate your cooperation and understanding in following these guidelines as we reopen safely.

Since 1937 this extraordinary theatre has celebrated good times and risen above dark periods, but only with the help of an incredible community. As a nonprofit theatre, we are profoundly grateful for the generosity of our patrons and supporters. Your contributions have been vital to our survival.

I am confident that the brighter days are returning, and great new memories will be made in the upcoming season.

Thank you so much for returning to MPAC. Let's get on with the show!

A WELCOME FROM OUR BOARD CHAIRMAN

Thank you for returning to MPAC. We know for many of you it's been a while, and we've missed you.

I've been pleased and impressed by how much MPAC has been able to deliver through the course of the pandemic, keeping the arts alive and engaging our patrons when their spirits have needed uplifting the most. I'm grateful to our dedicated members who have stood with us, giving because they believe our mission is more vital than ever.

MPAC is thankful for the support of all of the individuals, foundations, corporations, and government agencies that have helped to sustain us through the pandemic. Whether it was a large gift or a few dollars added to a ticket purchase, every contributed dollar is appreciated. It means so much to us to know how much you value MPAC.

While our situation has certainly improved since the onset of the pandemic in early 2020, COVID remains unpredictable and we continue to face an uncertain future. It will take two to three years for MPAC to fully recover from the pandemic, and that's provided there are no more downturns. We hope that you will support MPAC as we move ahead with our programs, bring in star-studded concerts, expand our educational offerings and develop diverse community-based arts programs. Pandemic or not, MPAC will be the leader in our arts community now and into the future.

No doubt, this has been a very tough period in our history. We see the light at the end of the tunnel, and your support will help to make that light shine brighter. Please give from your heart, we need your support more than ever.

Thank you. Please stay safe and I look forward to seeing you at MPAC.

Happy Together Tour 2022

The Turtles

Very few rock performers have remained as vital through the 1960's, 70's, 80's and 90's as have Howard Kaylan and Mark Volman. Initially they made their mark with the Turtles, then they joined Frank Zappa's Mothers of Invention, and then they glided into their own Flo & Eddie persona, dishing out records that have encompassed a multitude of personalities.

They've always been smart enough to have responded to the latest worthwhile trends in a fashion that has yielded an abundance of quality records, and more than their share of hits. This history will attempt to add a depth and perspective to Kaylan's and Volman's unique musical journey, one that, perhaps encapsulates the post-Beatles rock era like no other. This text was originally a companion piece to Rhino's exquisitely packaged, executive version of "The Turtles Greatest Hits" (RNLP 160).

Two guys from Westchester. The one with the curly hair and glasses, and the other with the beard. That's how Mark Volman and Howard Kaylan (AKA Flo and Eddie) refer to themselves. Two slightly bewildered kids thrust into the fast lane of rock 'n' roll stardom hits, fame, national tours, hanging out with the Beatles, joining the Mothers of Invention, acting in the "200 Motels" movie, and on and on ... Two guys from Westchester.

Despite its extremely boring, middle-classness, the Los Angeles suburb of Westchester bears some insight. A frequently fogged-in area slotted next to Los Angeles' International Airport, in the late 1950's/1960's the community thrived due to its proximity to Hughes and other companies that were instrumental in America's galloping let's-catch-up-with-the-Russians space program.

This bred a generation of kids who were slightly smarter than the bulk, and Westchester High during these years used to place right up there scholastically among the city's schools. (Sad to say that, with the coming of the 1970's, Westchester's potency was severely sapped as the bucks for the aerospace industry dissolved, and the airport started grabbing more territory; laying waste to nice tract homes and turning the area into the remains of a holocaust; in essence, ruining all that was.) Howard later fantasized about the possibility of buying the now-deserted junior high school he once attended.

Westchester was devoutly conservative, had no teen night clubs of its own, and was so far out of the happening Hollywood area (12 miles) as to strip it of all means of convenience to acquire that hipness comfortably. It was in this cultural wasteland that the partnership of Howard Kaylan and Mark Volman was formed.

Howard Kaylan (changed in 1965 from Kaplan, because that's how he always wrote his name) was born June 22, 1947 in the Bronx, and spent his first eight years in Manhattan before his father took a job with General Electric in Utica, New York. After the family moved there for a year or so, they moved to the Los Angeles area, settling in Westchester. Mark Volman was born April 19, 1947. After a brief period living in Redondo Beach, his family moved nearby to Westchester.

Little did they know it at the time, but both Mark's and Howard's musical direction was forged by a crusty, old Mr. Ferguson who gave clarinet lessons in a drafty cubicle above the Westchester Music Store. Mark went to Orville Wright Jr. High, while Howard went to Airport Jr. High. They didn't know each other, but they both pursed their lips around clarinet reeds for Mr. Ferguson, who ran them through the gamut of "Deep Purple" and "Anapola, My Pretty Little Poppy".

The puckers soon gave way to wide grins when their friendship formed in the Westchester High A Cappella Choir, which was conducted by Robert Wood. Mark was a first tenor, Howard a second tenor. (Wood was so influential that the duo later named a publishing company after him. "Mr. Woods Music.")

It was quite a choir, and won all sorts of city competitions. Look at the accompanying photo and you'll see not only Mark and Howard, but Al Nichol and Chuck Portz, all standing right next to each other!

In 1963, Al Nichol, Howard Kaylan, and Chuck Portz had just changed the name of their novice surf combo from the Nightriders to the Crossfires. Mark Volman knew them from the Westchester High A Cappella Choir and joined the group (initially as a roadie). Also in the band were Don Murray from Inglewood High and Dale Walton.

Dale was later replaced by Tom Stanton, who in turn, was later replaced by Jim Tucker. Ironically, their music was almost exclusively instrumental! Four guys from choir forming an instrumental band? Actually, it wasn't all that surprising. In 1962, the hardest dance music of the time evolved out of Dick Dale's concept of the Surfer Stomp, searing guitar solos over a pounding rhythm section. Nichol was one of the very best of the city's surf guitarists....

...The Crossfires adapted their own, original versions of standards like "Money" and "What'd I Say"...

The effects of being in a band had their social consequences. Howard expresses it this way:

"In B-10 I was socially less than a potato; in A-10 I was like Fabian to those kids."

The pair, along with the rest of the band, were thrust into an Animal House-like existence. Here they were, mere lads of 15, their fingers ripping away at their saxes, playing at fraternity parties. The naive duo were exposed to wild bacchanals, strangely devastating drinks like "Red Death," and all manner of mayhem.

To rise to the occasion, and to keep the frat boys happy to insure the band of even more $200-a-night jobs (good money for 1962), the Crossfires adapted their own, original versions of standards like "Money" and "What'd I Say" that were laced with the well chosen obscenities that the UCLA party boys loved so much. An ill-timed rendition of those very same ditties at the Westchester Women's Club effectively banned the Crossfires from Westchester, for good.

They set their sights on the adjacent South Bay area (Redondo Beach, Manhattan Beach, Torrance) and quickly found themselves winners of several Battle of the Bands competitions that resulted in a residency at Reb Foster's (a local DJ) Revelaire Club. The group also had a fan club of sorts,

"the Chunky Club," whose members made obscene gestures during band appearances. (For more insight into this period, refer to the Crossfires album, Out of Control.) It was here that demands were made upon them to learn the various hit recordings of stars like the Coasters, Sonny and Cher, the Righteous Brothers and others for whom they would occasionally become the backup band.

In 1964, the Beatles and the whole English Invasion took effect. Mark and Howard put down their saxes, took up the vocals more ardently (Howard did most of the leads, Mark backups and tambourine) and the Crossfires dropped their entire repertoire of surf instrumentals and grew their hair long. They were so taken with this change of identity, that it was not uncommon for them to show up at the South Bay Bowl, spewing forth English accents and claiming they were Gerry and the Pacemakers. It's a wonder what one little, properly-phrased order of "white tea please" can bring on in the way of offers of free drinks, food and autograph requests.

Despite this response, and their following at the Revelaire, frustration set in. The members weren't in high school anymore, two were married, and the band wasn't earning enough money. On the night they were submitting their resignation from the Revelaire and about to break up, they were approached by Ted Feigin and Lee Lasseff who signed them to a brand new, nameless record label, later to be called White Whale.

It was time for a name change as well. The group liked "The Half Dozen," or "Six Pack," but opted for Reb Foster's suggestion, The Turtles (like The Byrds, right?). It was exactly the same band and the same songs - one week at the Revelaire they were the Crossfires, the next week they were the Turtles.

It wasn't long before the release of the Turtles first single, their arrangement of a Bob Dylan song, "It Ain't Me Babe." It was an immediate hit - climbing into the Top Five nationally - quickly establishing the Turtles as a force of their own. Their first concert appearance was before 50,000 kids at the Rose Bowl, opening for Herman's Hermits.

Gary Puckett & The Union Gap

Gary Puckett and the Union Gap was one of the most successful musical groups of the sixties. Gary's unmistakable signature voice garnered six consecutive gold records and top ten Billboard hits with the following titles:

"Young Girl" • "Woman Woman" • "Lady Willpower" • "Over You" • "This Girl Is A Woman Now" • "Keep The Customer Satisfied" • "Don't Give in to Him" • "Home"

Gary Puckett has performed on more than thirty network television shows and prime time specials during his career, even adding a command performance for the President and Prince Charles at the White House. The Union Gap disbanded in the seventies. In 1974, "Young Girl" was reissued in England where it received a silver record award for attaining a top five position on the pop charts, several years after its initial release.

Gary continues to tour nationally & internationally, and currently resides in Clearwater, FL with his wife and family.

The Association

In 1967, The Association made history being the first band anywhere to open a rock festival - the now historic Monterey Pop Festival.

One of the most successful bands to come out of the 60s, they have sold millions of records, tapes, CDs and DVDs, as well as earned a number of achievements including a Golden Globe nomination in 1970 for Best Original Song - "Goodbye Columbus."

Seven Grammy nominations: (1967) Rock & Roll Group Performance: The Association, Cherish Lyrics; Rock & Roll Recording: The Association, Cherish Lyrics; Vocal Group Performance: The Association, Cherish Lyrics (1968) Best Arrangement Accompanying Vocalist(s) or Instrumentalist(s): The Association, Windy Lyrics; Contemporary Album: The Association, Insight Out; Contemporary Vocal Group: The Association, Windy Lyrics; Group Vocal Performance: The Association, Never My Love.

The Association has also received RIAA certifications for 6 gold and 3 platinum records. Their album, The Association Greatest Hits (Warner Brothers) is now double platinum and continues to be one of the longest best-selling albums in the history of the company.

The Classics IV

The Classics IV, one of the most popular and influential pop groups of the 60s and 70s, originated in Jacksonville, Florida. They achieved phenomenal success with hits "Spooky," "Stormy," "Traces," and Everyday With You Girl, all of which sold well over a million copies and were awarded gold and platinum discs by the Recording Industry of America. All four hits appeared in the 1977 film "The Chicken Chronicles" in addition to various other movie soundtracks including the hit HBO Series "Six Feet Under."

By the 1970s The Classics IV accumulated a total of 16 Billboard chart hits, solidifying them as a hit making pop group and crediting The Classics IV with the development of "Southern Soft Rock." To date The Classics IV have recorded 17 albums including Spooky, Lil Bit of Gold, Traces and Golden Greats. In 1993 The Classics IV were inducted into The Georgia Music Hall of Fame.

The Classics IV popularity is stronger than ever performing in a variety of venues to rave reviews and receiving back to back invitations to join hugely popular Happy Together Tour. The group continues captivating audiences with their professionalism, good humor, and ingratiating personalities. In 2011 The Classics IV returned to the studio with the release their album, A New Horizon, blending the old with the new. 2015 saw the first ever "Live Album" with the release of One Stormy Night - The Classics IV Live At The Ritz and in 2020 the group received great reviews and airplay with the first ever Christmas release "All I want For Christmas Is You".

The Vogues

From the mid-1960's into the 70's, The Vogues could be heard on radio stations coast to coast. They were also featured on the top television shows of the time like, The Ed Sullivan Show, The Tonight Show with Johnny Carson, The Mike Douglas Show, multiple times with Dick Clark's iconic American Bandstand, and many more.

The Vogues unique sound was instantly recognizable and became eternally memorable. Their first song to top the charts at #4 and capture hearts was "You're The One," a million-selling single in 1965.

Who can forget "Five O'clock World"? Not only was this a top 5 million selling single, but is still a request from fans at the shows today. Comedian, Drew Carey, selected "Five O'clock World" as the theme song for his very popular television sitcom. It was also featured in the movie, Good Morning Vietnam starring Robin Williams.

Veterans will remember these first two hits along with other million sellers featured regularly on Armed Forces Radio. "You Are My Special Angel" first hit the airwaves sung by Bobby Helms. In 1968, the Vogues recorded their version incorporating lush orchestration combined with their powerful vocal harmonies and made it even more unique.

Also in 1968, "Turn Around Look at Me," another million-selling hit single, took the world by storm. It too was an orchestral love ballad that established this new sound for the Vogues and firmly locked it in time. Volkswagen also used "Turn Around, Look at Me" for a very popular commercial as recent as 2019.

Other Vogues hits have been subtly included in multiple film and television sound tracks across the years. These and many other hits are the foundation of the Vogues shows as they continue to tour today. They are headliners on the finest Oldies Rock 'n' Roll shows, concerts, and special productions like, the Happy Together Tour, the Malt Shop Memories Cruise, Stars of the Sixties shows, and a multitude of other events. The Vogues continue delight audiences from coast to coast. Concert goers consistently say, "Their harmony is as strong as ever and the sound is exactly like the recordings we remember."

A dynamic combination of music, humor, and fun interaction, The Vogues show is seriously entertaining, but most of all, the timeless classic hit songs trigger fond memories in the minds of fans all over the world.

The Vogues, all very talented singers, present a performance that will truly have people talking for days and weeks to come. The memorable songs, the entertaining content, the humor; all these elements make The Vogues, most certainly, one of the world's top nostalgic vocal music shows.

The Cowsills

The real-life inspiration behind the hit television series The Partridge Family, the Cowsills — teen siblings Bill, Bob, Barry, John, Susan, and Paul in tandem with mom Barbara — were one of the biggest pop acts of the late '60s. Distinguished by their angelic harmonies and sun kissed melodies, siblings Bob, Paul and Susan carry on the touring tradition of The Cowsills as one of the co-headline bands in the 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018 and 2019 hugely successful Happy Together Tour!

THE ENCORE SOCIETY

The Encore Society at Mayo Performing Arts Center was established to thank and recognize those generous individuals who have remembered MPAC in their will or estate plans. Members of the Encore Society enjoy special benefits and privileges including invitations to an annual Encore Society event; invitations to tours and select performances, and recognition in MPAC's e-newsletter and website. With a planned gift, such as a bequest, you can help MPAC in its mission of bringing the finest performing arts to our community, providing arts education to all ages, and operating and maintaining our beautiful facility. Your support will strengthen MPAC and create a lasting legacy for generations to come.

If you are considering a gift to us, please visit our website at www.mayoarts.org/support/planned-giving. Download and return the Intent of Planned Gift form, or contact Marysue DePaola, Development Director, at 973-539-0345 ext. 6503 or mdepaola@mayoarts.org for more information.
